

VulTriage: support is checked before automation

A failed support check is an explicit review decision, not a forced label.